HAPPY FATHER'S DAY

Thank you for being in church on this Father's Day 2026!

No Evening Service tonight on Father's Day.

MOVIE NIGHT – NEXT SUNDAY JUNE 28 – 6PM

We will be showing “FACING THE GIANTS”. Come early to have your popcorn or other snack ready, find your seat, and enjoy the movie. “You have to FACE YOUR FEARS is a theme of the movie. Give God your best in every area. If you win PRAISE GOD. If you lose PRAISE GOD. Don't quite!”

A dad who prays is a dad who cares, his faith is a shield for his family.

MERCY OF THE LORD

But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting on those who fear Him, and His righteousness to children's children, to such as keep His covenant, and to those who remember His commandments to do them. Psalm 103:17-18

God has given us the gift of borders. As long as we live within the boundaries He has designated in His Word, we receive His blessings, His provision and protection. The moment that we step across and outside of those borders, we stand against His will and undefended.

Before a mother even knows that she is pregnant, the child has blood. God told Jeremiah, “Before I formed you in the womb I knew you” (Jeremiah 1:5). Before the man and woman ever conceived a child, before the mother even knew that she was carrying a baby, God knew that child.

Before a child ever draws a breath, God sees in them his image. God has chosen us to be the light of the world, to be the salt of the earth, right here and right now. The King of Glory has forgiven us the debt of our sin. He paid the price to set us free when we had no ability to do so ourselves. Choose to live within the border of blessing. Tear down the barricade between yourself and God to restore His ultimate purpose in your life.

Blessing: May the Lord bless you and keep you. May the Lord make His face to shine upon you and give you His peace. May God take you through the problem to the provision. May you, with bold, relentless faith, go straight through the problem and receive the promise of God. Let this day and the days that follow be days of triumph and victory because God is a faithful God who will never fail you. In Jesus' name, we receive the answer, Amen.

WHAT GOD DOES WITH SMALL OBEDIENCE

Whoever can be trusted with very little can also be trusted with much.

Luke 16:10

We have spent this week with a bird. A nest. A road. A seemingly insignificant law in Deuteronomy about what to do if you happen to encounter a mother sitting on her eggs.

It sounds like the kind of Scripture you read past on your way to something more important.

But everything we've looked at this week has been the same truth in different clothing. Moses turning aside to see, five words that opened the entire Exodus. David asking if there was anyone left in Saul's house he could show kindness to, and finding Mephibosheth, and setting the template for what grace looks like. The farmer who doesn't quit between the sowing and the reaping. The man who walks past the burning bush and the man who stops.

They are all the same story. Small obedience. Big doors.

Jesus says it plainly in Luke 16:10: whoever can be trusted with very little can also be trusted with much. This is not a motivational principle. It is a description of how the kingdom of God actually works. The person who is faithful in the small things is the person God can trust with the larger things. Not because they've passed a test, but because the small things reveal who they actually are.

What you do when no one is watching is who you are. And who you are is what God works with.

The mother bird law isn't about birds. It's about the kind of person who stops on a road when they don't have to, shows mercy when no one would blame them for not bothering, does the right thing in a moment so small it will never make it into any story anyone tells. And God sees it. God records it. God responds to it.

Here is the invitation as you close out this week: look at your ordinary day tomorrow with new eyes. The commute, the conversation, the moment of frustration where you choose patience instead of reaction, the small act of generosity, the forgiveness you extend again. None of it is too small for God to notice. None of it is disconnected from the larger story He is writing with your life.

The hinge is small. The door is enormous. And the door is waiting.

Be someone who turns aside to see. Be someone who lets the mother bird go. Be someone who keeps sowing even when the field looks empty. Be someone who shows kindness to the people who can't return it.

That is the kind of person God puts the wind behind. And with the wind at your back, even the hardest road gets shorter.

Prayer: Lord, thank You for this week and for the truth that small things matter. That big doors swing on little hinges, that You are watching the ordinary moments, that faithfulness in the small things is not lost on You. Help me carry this into next week. Help me be someone who turns aside, who lets the mother bird go, who keeps sowing, who shows kindness when it isn't required. I want the wind at my back. And I trust You with the doors. Amen.

Christian Fathers don't just teach their children to pray, they show them what it looks like when a man talks to God.

WE ARE GOD'S CHILDREN – BILLY GRAHAM DEVOTION

Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the [children] of God ...

1 John 3:1

As God's children, we are His dependents. The Bible says, "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him." Dependent children spend little time worrying about meals, clothing, and shelter. They assume, and they have a right to, that all will be provided by their parents. Because God is responsible for our welfare, we are told to cast all our care upon Him, for He careth for us.

Because we are dependent upon God, Jesus said, "Let not your heart be troubled." God says, "I'll take care of the burden—don't give it a thought—leave it to me." Dependent children are not backward about asking for favors. They would not be normal if they did not boldly make their needs known. God is keenly aware that we are dependent upon Him for life's necessities. It was for that reason that He said, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you."

Prayer: How magnificent, almighty Father, that I, dependently, can rely on You to take the burden of my heart!

Through every challenge,
a father stands firm,
reminding us of God's sovereignty.
