MISSIONS SUNDAY

The one Sunday a month that we remind everyone to pray and support missions.

HAVE A SAFE AND HAPPY LABOR DAY

NO SUNDAY EVENING SERVICE

Being Labor Day weekend there will be no services tonight.

HAPPY 90TH BIRTHDAY BRO. RUBEN HAPPY ANNIVERSARY RUBEN & FAYE - SEPT. 8

We are truly blessed to have Bro. Rubin and Sis. Faye among us.

They blazed the gospel trail, took mission trips to Mexico while Pastor Charles was a toddler, even before Pastor Tammy's birth, and we love and appreciate them for all they done, continue to do, and encourage the rest of us.

CONGRATULATIONS DAVID & RAMONA

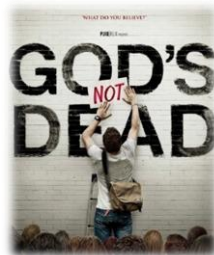

David & Ramona came yesterday and was joined in "Holy Matrimony" here at New Day. They are on a short honeymoon, and we pray they have a blessed and relaxing time away. Pastor Charles shared yesterday that the Lord is doing a "New thing" in their lives and we are excited to see what God is doing.

MOVIE NIGHT

Everyone enjoyed the God's Not Dead" Movie last Sunday Night. Thank you to everyone that was here to share in movie night together as a church family.

God's Not Dead left some asking what happened with different people, like the lady they prayed for with cancer. So we look forward to sharing the next movie in the God's Not Dead series soon.

Movie night is an opportunity for you to invite other that may not go to church, to come and enjoy a Christian based movie with us. We are here to serve others and extend the Heavenly Kingdom.

THE FIRST MISSIONARY – BILLY GRAHAM DEVOTION

Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men. - Matthew 4:19

Jesus Himself was the first missionary! He did not sit by passively and let those who happened to be interested in His teaching come to Him. He went out where the sick, the sorrowing, and the sad were, and expounded His message of joy, healing, and salvation. Even at a tender age, He went to the Temple and “taught” the doctors and lawyers who were entrenched in the old traditions. He found His way to the seaside and intruded upon the life of the commonest of laborers, saying, “Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.” Wherever He went He challenged, uprooted, and changed men. And at length they nailed Him to a cross because He had upset their selfish, secure, smug way of life. Not only was Jesus a missionary, but He pledged His followers to be missionaries, too!

Prayer: Wherever I go, it is a mission field for You, Lord. Help me to be conscious of this, so that I may tell others the joyous message.

STUNNING ARCHAEOLOGICAL DISCOVERIES ARE VINDICATING THE BIBLE

For centuries, skeptics have tried to bury the Bible beneath doubt, criticism and claims that its stories belong more to legend than history. There is just one problem: The ground keeps giving up evidence.

Dinesh D’Souza believes something remarkable is happening in our generation. Ancient civilizations are emerging from obscurity. Biblical names are appearing on artifacts. Places described in Scripture are being uncovered. And in Israel, the past is suddenly speaking into the present.

In an interview with about his new book, “The Stones Cry Out,” D’Souza said biblical archaeology is bringing Scripture into startling historical focus. “There’s not a single significant archaeological finding that contradicts the Bible,” he said.

Consider the Hittites. D’Souza noted that 19th-century skeptics once pointed to the Bible’s repeated references to the Hittites as evidence that Scripture described civilizations that never existed. Then archaeologists uncovered evidence of a sprawling Hittite empire.

Even more remarkable are discoveries tied to obscure biblical characters. D’Souza highlighted clay seals bearing names corresponding to Jehuqal son of Shelemiah and Gedaliah son of Pashur—two figures appearing briefly in Jeremiah. For D’Souza, such details directly challenge theories that biblical accounts were manufactured centuries after the fact.

Then there is Sodom and Gomorrah. D’Souza discussed archaeological work connected with Stephen Collins and pottery discoveries that, according to D’Souza’s account, showed evidence of exposure to extraordinary heat. He suggested an atmospheric explosion involving an asteroid or comet could potentially explain the devastation uncovered at the site.

“The biblical description of Sodom and Gomorrah is God rained fire and brimstone from the sky,” D’Souza said, “and this appears to perfectly match that description.”

But perhaps the most breathtaking evidence concerns Jesus Himself. D'Souza recalled walking the ancient Pilgrimage Road from the Pool of Siloam toward the temple—the world of the New Testament suddenly beneath his feet. When he asked Zev Orenstein what the chances were that Jesus had walked that route, D'Souza said Orenstein answered, “100%,” based on Jesus’ Jewish identity and His recorded visits to the temple.

“You have this kind of eerie feeling that you are walking the footsteps of Jesus,” D'Souza said.

Yet this story does not end in the ancient past. “There is an urgency,” D'Souza said, “and a sense that somehow the reason the stones are crying out so urgently is that we are in fact in the last age of mankind.”

Jesus declared in Luke 19:40 that if His followers became silent, “the stones would immediately cry out.”

Two thousand years later, stones buried beneath the land of the Bible are emerging with a testimony of their own.

Perhaps the question is no longer whether the stones are crying out.

It is whether this generation is listening.

QUESTIONS FOR AFTER SERVICE

- The sermon described every person as having a "garden" that God has entrusted to them. What do you believe your "garden" looks like in this season of life?
- Change your perspective to realize that work existed before sin entered the world?
- The message reminded us that sin made work hard, but not meaningless. What "thorns" do you currently face in your daily responsibilities? Challenges affected your attitude?
- Jesus spent many years working as a carpenter before beginning His public ministry. What does His example teach us about the value of ordinary, everyday faithfulness?
- Read Colossians 3:23–24. What would practically change this week if you approached every responsibility as "working for the Lord" instead of for other people?
- The sermon warned against making work our identity while also encouraging us to pursue excellence. Find the balance.
- What is one ordinary task you normally overlook that could become an act of worship this week? Would affect your approach to your responsibility differently?
- What is one specific way you believe God is inviting you to cultivate the "garden" He has placed in your hands this week?
