Prayers as the team as they are traveling home. Pastor Tammy & Lori should land in Tulsa around 6pm, after being up, bus ride, air travel, changing flights, and going through customs. From leaving the lodge in Dilla to Tulsa, they will have been up and traveling for 47 hours.

Prayer over Shoeboxes – November 22

We'll be having special prayers over the shoeboxes next Sunday morning, then taking them to the drop off location for Sarmatian's Purse to take them on their journey to somewhere in the world.

No Wednesday Bible Study – November 25 – Thanksgiving Eve

Wednesday Bible Study – The Court of Heaven – Robert Henderson

From this past Wednesday's lesson. Prayer functioning in a judicial system in the spirit world, and we are granted the right to function in, by virtue of the blood of Jesus and everything he's done for us.

The reason prayers are not answered is not because God's not hearing us, or not because they're not even according to the Word of God. It's because something legal in the spirit world is resisting you. It's the adversary that would bring a case that would claim a legal right to deny your prayers from being answered. We can go into the courts and remove those rights, then we can see answers come to prayers that to this point have not been answered.

Hope deferred makes the heart sick, ... Proverbs 13:12

When I've been disappointed time after time, it makes the heart sick. Meaning I no longer have vital faith operating because my heart's sick. Abraham and Sarah came into hope deferred. They both laughed when God first told them, they would have a child in their late years. God said I'll bring something out of your dead body and Sarah's fruitless womb. God brings Abraham & Sarah out of hope deferred, back into faith.

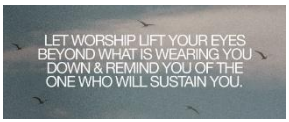

By faith Sarah herself also received strength to conceive seed, and she bore a child when she was past the age, because she judged Him faithful who had promised. Hebrews 11:11

1 Peter 1:7, said, to those who have obtained like precious faith... Because of my experiences before God and with God, I have witnessed and seen his faithfulness. I've seen it and I choose to let it produce a faith in me so that when the Lord comes back, he's find faith in us. I believe that this is what the court of heaven message is about. This is why he's releasing it into the earth. He's trying to revive his people back into faith.

Worship Like an Eagle

But those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength. They will soar on wings like eagles; they will run and not grow weary; they will walk and not be faint

Isaiah 40:31 (NIV)

There are days when even the simplest things feel harder than they should. You get up, take care of what needs to be done, answer the messages, meet the responsibilities, and keep moving. From the outside, everything may look fine. But inside, you feel worn down. You've carried the same concern for weeks, perhaps months, and you wonder how much longer you can keep going.

God never asked us to live the Christian life in our own strength. He knows our limits, sees the burdens we carry, and invites us to look to Him when our own resources are running low. Worship turns our attention away from the limits of our strength and back to the faithfulness of the God who sustains us.

In Revelation 4:7, John describes the third living creature as having a face like an eagle. Throughout Scripture, the eagle gives us a picture of strength and renewed perspective. Isaiah 40:31 promises that those who hope in the Lord will have their strength renewed and will soar on wings like eagles. The promise is not that we will never grow tired. It is that our strength does not have to come from us alone.

When life becomes difficult, our perspective can narrow. We see the problem in front of us, the unanswered prayer, the responsibility we cannot escape, or the uncertainty waiting around the corner. We begin to measure what is possible by how we feel right now. If we are exhausted, the future looks impossible. If we are discouraged, we may struggle to imagine things changing.

Worship invites us to lift our eyes. It means remembering that what we can see is not all there is. God is still present. His character has not changed. His wisdom is greater than ours, and He sees the whole picture when we can only see one part of it. Think about the difference between staring at a problem all day and deliberately making room to remember God's goodness. The problem may not disappear, but it no longer has to occupy every corner of your mind. As you pray, read His Word, and worship Him, you make room for truth to speak louder than discouragement. You remember that you are not alone in what you are facing.

This is an important part of worshiping like an eagle. We learn to trust God's presence in the middle of the struggle instead of waiting for every difficulty to pass before we turn to Him. Sometimes He changes our circumstances. Sometimes He, in his sovereignty, carries us over it, with enough grace for one day at a time. Often, He reminds us of His faithfulness in ways we might have missed while we were focused only on the problem.

Remember to bring your exhaustion to the Lord. Worship Him with the strength you have. Your hope is not in your ability to keep yourself going indefinitely. Your hope is in the God who renews the strength of those who wait on Him.

Let worship lift your eyes beyond what is wearing you down and remind you of the One who will sustain you.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN WE BOW DOWN IN WORSHIP BEFORE GOD?

Come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the LORD our Maker. — Psalm 95:6

What if the most powerful thing we can do in spiritual warfare is to fall on our faces before God?

All throughout Scripture, when people encountered the glory of God, witnessed His mighty power, or found themselves in desperate circumstances, they often responded in the same way: they fell on their faces in worship. But somewhere along the way, this profound expression of humility and surrender has become unfamiliar to much of the Western Church. Have we overlooked something significant about the way God created us to worship Him?

Explore the biblical significance of bowing down and prostrating ourselves before the Lord. From Abraham's servant and Joshua to Elijah on Mount Carmel and Solomon's dedication of the Temple, they uncover a powerful pattern: when God's people humble themselves before Him, extraordinary things can happen. Meditate on the remarkable accounts of revival when the manifest presence of God brought people to their knees. Worship in Heaven offers a glimpse into the breathtaking worship taking place around the throne of God.

You'll discover that bowing before the Lord is about far more than physical posture. It's an expression of love, surrender, reverence, and wholehearted submission to the King of kings. And this kind of worship isn't reserved for Heaven. We have an invitation to participate in Heaven's worship right here on earth! As we contend for a greater outpouring of the Holy Spirit, could a deeper revelation of worship and humility be part of the preparation?

Whether you're standing with hands raised, kneeling in prayer, lying prostrate before the Lord, or simply bowing your heart in surrender, the invitation is the same: Give Him the glory due His name. It's time to rediscover the beauty, humility, and power of bowing in worship before our King!

And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not. (KJV)
… the darkness did not comprehend it. (NKJV)
… the darkness has not overcome it. (NIV)
… the darkness can never extinguish it. (NLT)
… the darkness has not overcome it. (ESV)
